ticket for her benefit to-night. FORD'S THEATER .- Mr. J. S. Clarke is meeting with deserved success at Ford's, and as he appears to-night as "Major Wellington de Boots," and as "Toodles," two of his best and most amusing characters, another full house may be expected. Whenever and wherever Clarke performs, the audience is certain to laugh, and laughter is certainly conducive to good health.

CANTERBURY.—Marietta Ravel is graceful in dance and the tight rope. John Mulligan and the rest of the Ethiops are exceedingly funny, and the ballet corps do their parts to perfection; and as all will appear to-night in a splendid bill, a visit to Canterbury Hall will be well repaid.

THE GREAT SHOW .- Dan Rice's great show, at the corner of 6th street and New York avenue, is a big thing; and the trained animalshorses and ponies, dogs and monkeys, mules and buffaloes, the comic mules, the blind horse, &c.,&c., -are the admiration of the large crowds who nightly assemble under the canopy. These crowds are enormous, and in order to secure a seat parties must go early.

FAIRS AND FESTIVALS .- At Odd Fellows Hall a fair is in progress for the benefit of a home for the friendless. It is admirably conducted, and the benevolent are invited to do all in their power in aid of the cause. At Island Hall the ladies of Grace Church will soon open their great festival, and from all the indications it will exceed in beauty and interest anything of the sort ever held in this

THE WILEY-BROWN CASE, -Yesterday, after our report of the case of Emily F. Wiley vs. Marshall Brown and J. B. Haw, Administrator of the estate of Tilletson P. Brown, deceased, closed the testimony of-

Jane Bell, colored, was continued, and she testified that Mr. Brown also slept with Mrs. Brown, on B street and New York avenue. Witness knew that Governor Moore, Mr. McCarthy and others boarded at the house on the avenue, but did not know that John White boarded there. Witness knows that no one but Mr. Brown slept with Mrs. B., in the house on the avenue. Witness never saw Mr. John White on B street. Mr. Brown used to give witness money to go to market with.
Mr. Bradley asked if Mrs. Brown did not have a child in the house on B street. Mr. Brent objected, and asked what Mr.

Bradley intended to prove. Mr. Bradley said he intended to prove that at the time this witness testifies Mr. Brown was sleeping with Mrs. Brown, that John White was sleeping with her, and he acknowledged a child which Mrs. Brown had, as his own.

The Court ruled the question as proper, and witness continued. She was questioned if she knew that there was a baby born to Mrs Brown, at the B street house, which lived nearly a year and was buried from that house. She replied in the negative.

Witness knows that Mr. and Mrs. McGhan boarded at the house. Witness does not know that John White slept with Mrs. Brownknows nothing about him. Witness does not recollect a girl named Ellen Davis, who stopped there at the time, but does recollect Eliza Pierpoint. Witness recollects Mrs. Brown going away while she was living on B street, but did not know where she went-she took Miss Emily with her. Witness has seen Col. Larned at the house. He came to see a Mr. Bradford, who stopped at the house sometimes. Witness does not recollect that on the former trial that she stated that she was present when the child Georgiana was born, nor does she recollect that child. Witness does not recollect that she told Mary Bowie that Dr. Miller, of Baltimore, was the father of Georgiana. Witness has often taken Miss Emily to Mr. Marshal Brown's house and also to the hotel, and witness knows that Miss Emily used to go to Mr. Brown's farm. When Emily came back from school she went to learn a trade.

Jacob Williams, colored .- Witness had been with Tillotson Brown's family three or four years, and was with him when he died. Witness has heard Mr. Brown introduce Mrs. Wiley as his daughter. On the Sunday previous to his death witness was in Mr. Brown's room, and Mr. B. called Mrs. B. and gave her the key, and she got out some papers and bonds, after which he told witness to call Emily, his daughter, and he gave her bonds, saying that that was enough to take care of her, if she took care of it; he also remarked that her mother (Mrs. R.) was provided for in case anything happened to him.

time of the last trial he was out of the city, and that he is now in Mrs. Brown's employ. Mrs. Priscilla Hodgson, a very old lady. sworn .- Witness knew a woman named Stahl, who occupied two rooms at Mrs. Brush's, on 11th street, near Pennsylvania avenue, when she saw Mr. Tillotson Brown go there to see Mrs. Brown. Whenever witness went to Mrs. Brush's, Mrs. Brown would leave and go up stairs Witness is over eighty years of age. On cross-examination, stated that she has often seen Tillotson Brown go to the house; he was at the time going to school in Alexandria, and whenever he had holiday he was there, (at

On cross-examination witness said that at the

Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy was sworn, and testi-fied that she knew Mrs. Stahl, with whom a woman named Mrs. Brown boarded, and she knows the Mrs. Brown living near the City Hall as the same person. Witness about five years since met Tillotson Brown, who told her that he was married to the woman who was at Mrs. Stahl's. This was in 1834. John Walker was about as common as dish-water about there. He used to bring a woman to the house, and after his wife found it out she gave Mrs Brush a blowing up for renting a room to Walker. When Mrs. Stahl left she went to

New York to her husband. Mrs. Brown went to Baltimore when Mrs. Stahl left. On cross-examination witness testified that she formerly worked for Mrs. Brush, and also Mrs. Weedens, and saw Mrs. Brown once at the latter's place. Mrs. Brown went to Mrs. Dodd's when she had her baby. Witness never told any one that Tillotson Brown never had anything to do with this woman, (Mrs. B.)

lotson Brown in 1831, and has seen his writing and signature, and recognized the postscript to a letter and entry in a Testament as in the handwriting of Mr. Brown. Witness had a conversation with Tillotson Brown some years since in relation to the sale of his interest in the hotel, when he said he sold it so as to have no difficulty after his death.

W. N. S. Hopkins sworn .- Witness identified certain signatures as those of T. P. Brown. The first time witness saw Mrs. Wiley was about twelve years since, when Mr. B. told him that she was his daughter. Witness has heard Mr. Brown speak of Mrs. Wiley as his daughter, and also introduce her as such. On one occasion Tillotson Brown, in speaking of his interests in the hotel, said he wanted Marshall to let him and his alone. He also stated that he (T. P. B.) had given his money to the woman.

On cross-examination, witness stated that Mr. Brown, after having a difficulty with his brother, told him that he had torn up a will by which his property was to be left to Marshall's

A CASE OF NEGRO TESTIMONY-Charge of Perjury.-Yesterday morning Justice Kinsey took up the case of Elizabeth Shorter, (colored) who charges that Wm. F. Pruitt, white, is the birth to on the 3d day of November last.

father of an illegitimate child, which she gave The case excited great interest from the fact that it is among the first where negro testimony has been used upon such a charge. The office of Justice Kinsey was crowded during the entire examination.

Mr. J. H. Bradley, Jr., appeared for the defer e and W. P. Mr. Fendali for complainant, Cilicer Johnson stated that he served the Warrant opon Wm. Pruitt, but as his (Pruitt's) child was lying dead in the house, the officer allowed him to go to the magistrate and answer w.ich he did last Tuesday, and it was posthe present time Elizabeth Shorter, (a good - looking colored girl,) sworn.—Is in her eighteenth year, has known Pruitt two years and six months; first saw him in his house, where witness hired as a servant; staid one week and left with the vari-Gold. After witness got well she returned. The first night witness slept in Pruitt's store, on a sofa. Mrs. Praitt went to bed. Mr. Pruitt came in from the cars [street cars, on which he W s a conductor—Rep.] and sat on the sofa.

W tress asked who was there? He said "It is me Liz, Frank. I want to get into bed with yo, but don't want you to tell Lib; will you!" We tness told him to go away, she was tired. He persevered and got in bed with her, and put his arms round witness neck, and had initial intercourse with her then and after wards. When she was in the family way she went and told him. He asked if it was his. Witness told him it was. He said if it was his he would sustain the child. The child was born a month before Christmas. It was born at Mrs. McDuell's. The day it was born witness was at Mr. Pruitt's, and Mr. Pruitt went back home with her, on his way to Cassin's drug store. He told me he had so money to give her, but he had a bedstead at Mr. Sotar's which the would give her. Witness asked what use was a bedstead without a bed. That night with as W these had no intercourse with any man but . Praist. Pruitt preed witness to go away from his house with the child: but witness told him if he would support the child she would go, if not, she would star till the child was old ress left the May following. Witcess intended to leave on a Saturday, but would not go till she saw him, and left Sunday morning. On this Saturday, witness asked Pruitt what he meant by wanting to send her out of the house. He denied saying it, and went out and shut the door. Mrs. Pruitt was gone to market. Saturday night witness went to Mrs. McDuell's to hire; told her what had occurred, and she would not hire her. Witness asked him before his wife about his wanting to turn her away. He said yes he said so, because the milk was doing the child (Mrs. Pruitt's) no good, (witness wasthe wet nurse,) and the expense was too great. Mrs. Pruitt told witness to say nothing, and go to bed. Sunday morning witness got up, and dressed her baby, then packed her trunk and put all her things in. She then took the baby and knocked at Mrs. Pruitt's door. Mrs. Pruitt got up and opened the door. Pruitt was in bed. Witness called him. Mrs. Pruitt told him Lizzie wanted him. Witness asked him to look at the baby and at her, and remember what he had done to her. He looked at witness and said "Well." She said you promised to take care of the child and support it, and that witness should want for nothing. Witness then told him if he didn't give money that day to support the child she would disgrace him on the morrow. He turned to his wife and said, "Lib,doyon believe that d-d black b-h?" She said, "Yes, Frank, I do; for the last three months you have acted as if you were afraid of Liz." He jumped out of bed, went to the drawer, took out a revolver, and said, "God d-n you, I never intended to die a natural death. and I will blow your d-d brains out." Mrs. Pruitt took the revelver out of his hands, and said, "Frank! a murder over my child!" and put the pistol in the drawer. Pruitt ran to witness, choked her and ran her up against the wall, and ordered her out of the house. Witness went down the steps with her baby in her arms Pruitt followed her out and ordered her out, and told her to get her trunk as soon as possible, or he would throw it out. Witness returned with a colored man in half an hour, and got her trunk. Pruitt was sitting in the yard on a stool. Witness went up stairs with Mrs. Pruittand got her trunk. She gave witness some money in her hand. Monday merning, between 7 and 8 o'clock, witness entered complaint before Justice Barnaclo against Pruitt. He would not issue upon it. Witness went to Justice Rowland about 3 o'clock p. m., and he issued a warrant. On Monday night witness was arrested on a charge of stealing Mrs. Pruitt's money; was sent to jail Tuesday and stayed till Friday, and was discharged on bail. Mrs. Pruitt was sworn as witness against

To the Justice:-It was three months after the night on the sofa that I found myself with a child, and nine months afterwards I gave birth to this child.

To Mr. Bradley: —I am sure it was two years and a half to this time since I went there. I know Jane Thomas. Never told her anything about my sickness. Don't know any colored man named Davis. Father Maguire christened the child. I told him the father of the child was named Frank Pruitt, sometimes called William Pruitt.

Mr. Bradley read a certificate from Father Maguire, of St. Aloysius Church, as follows: "From the book of Baptisms kept in this Church, I make the following extract:-December 2d, 1863-Baptized Rosina Davis, daughter of Wm. Pavis and his wife, Elizabeth Shorter. Born November 2d, 1863. Sponsor Rosa Brown. B. A. MAGUIRE, S. J., Pastor. John Soter (White,) sworn .- Knows Elizabeth Shorter, about two years. She lived at Pruit's house, about four doors from mine. She has a fair character. I keep a grocery store. She came to my store to buy things for Mrs. Pruitt. Never knew anything against her chastity or honesty. She bought her goods and left the store immediately after getting them. Mrs. Soter sworn.-Corroborated her husband's statement. Complainant recalled .- Never told Mrs. McDuell that she had a child by any other

R. Johnson sworn.-Testified that complainant said in his presence that Mr. Pruitt would never have any luck; that his children would die, and perhaps his wife too. That the child was christened by Father Maguire, William Sergt. Jas. Johnson sworn.-I went to a house with Mr. Pruitt, Sergt. Skippon, and R. Johnson, after Elizabeth Shorter. She was not there. Went to another house and found her. I demanded the money she was charged with stealing. She denied having it. I searched her, and a handkerchief fell on the floor; it contained silver. On the other side found another handkerchief containing a fifty dollar note and some small notes. She said Mrs. Pruitt gave it to her. She accused Mr. Pruitt of being the father of her child. Mr. Pruitt flew in a passion, and I had to prevent them coming together.

Officer J. F. King, sworn.—Was present at Justice Rowland's office when the complainant asked a warrant. No warrant was issued. Mr. Rowland told her to come next day. She made a statement, charging Mr. Pruitt with being the father of this child.

Belinda Evans sworn.-Lives at Mr. Prnitt's Was sitting with the complainant and talking about the child. I asked her who was the father. She said I didn't know him. I remarked that she had as well tell me. She said his name was Mr. Davis; that he was engaged to be married; was a white man, and lives in the city. She told me before that his name was Mr. Davis. She said the child's name was Rosa Davis.

J. L. McDuell, (white,) sworn.—Complainant came to my house on a Saturday night, my wife was out. She said Mr. Pruitt has hurt her feelings, and asked to stay with witness. Said she would stay with me without pay, rather than with Pruitt for pay. I asked her what Pruitt had done. She said he as good as turned her out. My wife returned and complainant stated the same to her.

John W. Hunter, (white,) sworn.-Lives near McDuell's. Have seen complainant go in an alley with colored men several times; and also into a house of ill-fame nearly opposite, both of which are reputed to be used for improper purposes. Have never seen the complainant do anything improper in the alley; but have seen others. Have seen women living in families going into the house referred to. They were colored, and of bad repute.

Rev. B. A. Maguire, sworn.-Is the pastor of St. Aloysius Church. It is customary to keep a record of baptisms in the church. The certificate shown is an exact copy I made from the record a few days ago No such name as Wm. Pruitt or Francis Pruitt was given at the time. I cannot identify the mother or child at this time, there are so many that call for Jane Thomas (colored), sworn.-Know Mr. Pruitt and Lizzie Shorter. I sent her to Mr. Pruitt's to get employment. She was in the family way when she went to Mr. Pruitt's, and that child died. She went home from Mr. Pruitt's sick with smallpox, and the child was born after. I know from the statement of Nelly Mitchell and her daughter that the child died. She was not in the family way when I recommended her, but I discovered it soon after she went there. I am on good terms with Lizzie Shorter; spoke to her when I came into the office.

Mrs. Martha McDuell (white), sworn.-Lizzie Shorter lived with me about two months after having lived with Mr. Pruitt. I asked her about the father of the child-it was born at my house. She would not say who was the father. I remarked that maybe she did not know. She said there was only two men that ever knew her, and the father of her first was named Cooper. She said she had been confined before.

Comp'ainant recalled by Mr. Bradley .- "The child is a girl." Mr. Bradley.-Wm. F. Pruit is a singular name to give a girl! Justice Kinsey remarked that she stated distinctly in the presence of several gentlemen that she told Father Maguire that the father's name was Wm. Pruitt, sometimes called Frank and he might name the child William or Francis as he choose The counsel agreed to submit the case without argument. Justice Kinsey.-I have listened patiently several hours to the evidence, and as the counsel have consumed my time, I shall not elaborate, but come directly to a verdict, and honorably acquit Wm. F. Pruit of all charges against him. Mr. Pruitt immediately had the girl arrested for perjury. Justice Kinsey demanded $200 bail for her further hearing.

It will be remembered that on the 3d of May this girl, Elizabeth Shorter, was brought up before Justice Thompson, charged with the larceny of $120 in coin from the house of Mr. Pruitt. When she was searched, on being arrested, $57.45 in silver and notes was found upon her person, which she said Mrs. Pruitt gave her, but Mrs. Pruitt testified that she had given her no money but $3, the amount of wages due her.
